THIRD TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE.

BENJAMIN CATES AGAIN BEFORE THE CRIMINAL BAR.

State's Case, Which Was Closed Yesterday, Regarded as Much Weaker Than at Two Former Trials-Court News.

Benjamin F. Cates, who shot and killed his cousin, Monroe Bales, on carnivel night last fall, was yesterday placed on trial for the third time in the criminal court. Judge George F. Longan, of Sedalia, Mo., presided in Judge Wofford's place, as Cates claimed he could not have a fair and impartial trial before the latter. The state was assisted in the prosecution by James L. Farris, ex-prosecuting attorney of Ray county. Farris was retained by the father of the murdered man.

The state introduced no new evidence in the case yesterday and, according to a number of lawyers who heard the testiment. ony, made a weaker case than in the preceding trials. Richard Jacobs, one of the state's witnesses, who was personally acquainted with the two cousins, testified at both of the other trials that he had never heard Bales make any threats against the life of Cates. Yesterday he testified that he had heard him make threats.

threats.

Cates sat throughout the evidence apparently taking little interest in what was going on. His father, a heavy built, gray haired man, sat beside him. The two conversed but little, either with each other or with their attorneys. The state rested its case about 4 o'clock and the jury was locked up until 9 o'clock this morning, when the defense will put in its testimony.

NOW SUES THE BANK.

Hobbs, Farmer Chancy's Flame, Still After $500 of His Cash.

Cash.

Farmer M. C. Chaney is having lots of trouble. The story of how he sold his farm near Independence for $1,650, came to Kansas City, fell in love and gave all his money to Mrs. J. E. Hobbs, was told in The Journal two weeks ago.

Besides giving her $500 to buy furniture with, he deposited $550 in the Union National bank to her credit. A few days afterwards he made up his mind that he had made a mistake and tried to get his money back. But Mrs. Hobbs had a mind of her own, and did not return as readily as as she had received the farmer's gold. On the advec of his lawyers, Chaney forthwith notified the bank not to pay Mrs. Hobbs any of the money. He confessed judgment in favor of his attorneys in Kansas City for $200; to his housekeeper in Independence for $250 more. They proceeded to get out an execution in all those judgments and garnisheed the bank. Yesterday Mrs. Hobbs, through her attorneys, Chase & Shannon, brought suit against the bank in her name

St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum Wants Its Property Protected and Geta an Injunction.

St. Joseph's Female Orphan Asylum yes terday secured a temporary injunction re-straining Kansas City from having Summit straining Kansas City from having Summit street, between Twenty-ninth and Thirty-first streets, graded. The writ is made returnable before Judge Scarritt next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The orphan asylum association claims that the forty-foot cut will depreciate the value of its property facing on the east side of Summit street, causing irreparable damages and endangering the lives of the teachers and pupils in the asylum. The petition states that the officers of the asylum were induced to sign a petition for the grade by the company signing a contract to build a retaining will to its property, but that now the company refuses to futill its contract.

Wilson was injured by a blow from a club in an altercation in Lawrence, Kas., in July, 184. He was from North Carolina and was traveling over the West with his daughter. He was able to drive on to Westport, but died there. He was an Odd Fellow, and the lodge there gave him medical attention, and when he died gave him burial and had a stone erected over his grave. His daughter was sent to her relatives in North Carolina. The grave had not been well cared for for some years and the Odd Fellow lodges in the city decided to have the remains put in another grave. The various lodges will attend the funeral Sunday afternoon. After forty-one years there was but little remaining of the coffin Sunday afternoon.
